$4.1 MILLION GRANTED TO FUND BRILLIANT RESEARCHERS AND INNOVATIVE IDEAS

Stomach cancer is the fourth leading cause of cancer deaths worldwide, yet it receives less than one-half of one percent (0.4%) of U.S. federal cancer research funding.

SEED GRANTS LAUNCH NEW STUDIES

The foundation kickstarts projects at leading research centers nationwide. We aim to ensure that groundbreaking studies receive essential support at the critical early stage. Our funding impact is amplified as projects go on to secure major grants, allowing them to continue their vital work.

SCHOLAR AWARDS ENGAGE YOUNG SCIENTISTS

Early-career investigators face funding challenges to study gastric cancer. Through 3-year grants of $100,000 per year, the Ben Feinstein Memorial Research Scholar Award enables great young scientists to build robust portfolios of work that position them to receive major grants to continue their work.

PUBLISHED REPORTS SHARE RESEARCH PROGRESS

Findings from foundation-funded studies are peer-reviewed and published in respected medical and scientific journals. The growing library of published papers is available on our website.

Your generosity fuels research and provides people with stomach cancer the information, support, and hope they need to navigate their journey.
